Justin Saji
12SDD.1
Mr Lodhi

HangMan

User Manual

ABSTRACT

Hangman is a game designed for anyone that can use a computer. It serves as a source of entertainment, and with four different themes, it does just that.

CONTROLS

To play the game, only a mouse is needed, as direct keyboard input is not registered.

MAIN MENU

This is the Main Menu. Very decorative, as you can tell.

Press PLAY to go to the Theme Selection Menu or press QUIT to exit the game.
THEME SELECTION

There are four themes in total:

- NORMAL
- HARRY POTTER
- CHRISTMAS
- HALLOWEEN

Each theme has their own specific word bank and its own variation of the hangman drawing but the gameplay remains essentially the same.

Themes are chosen by clicking on the tiles but you can also go home by pressing the HOME BUTTON.
Gameplay

During gameplay, there's the onscreen keyboard (which the letters are clicked), the streak of words that have been correctly guessed, the amount of tries left, the letters guessed wrong, the hangman drawing, and the home button.
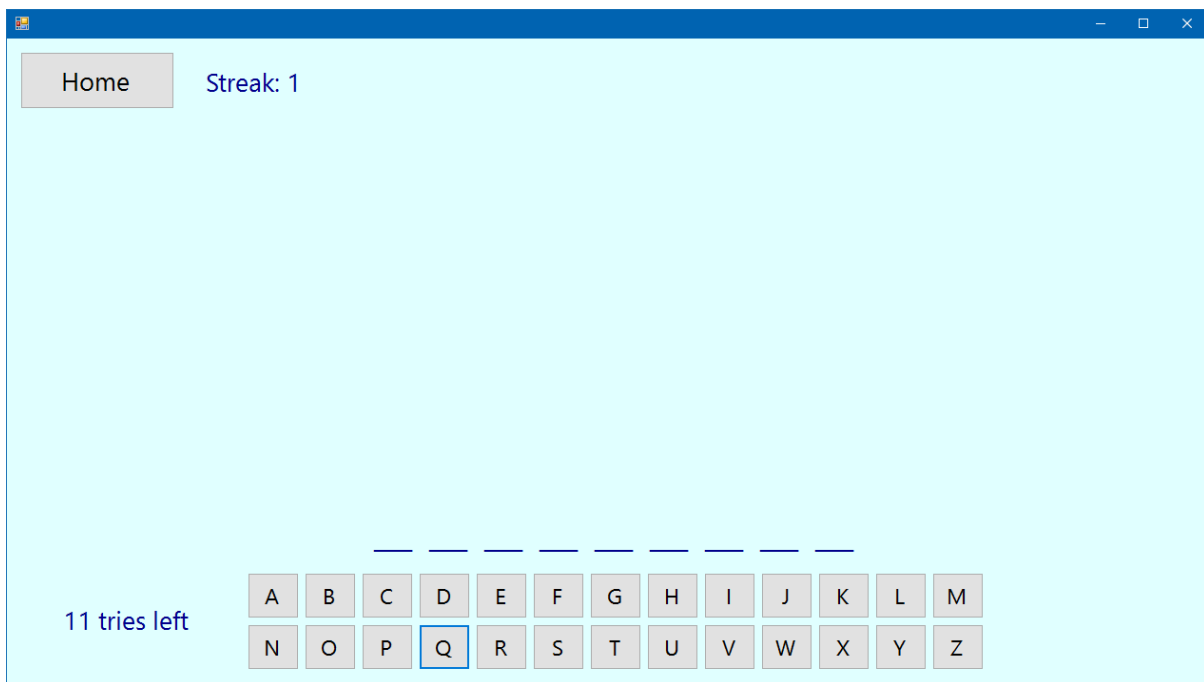

When you choose a correct letter, it will replace one or more underscores and the key you pressed will be disabled (as seen in the picture).

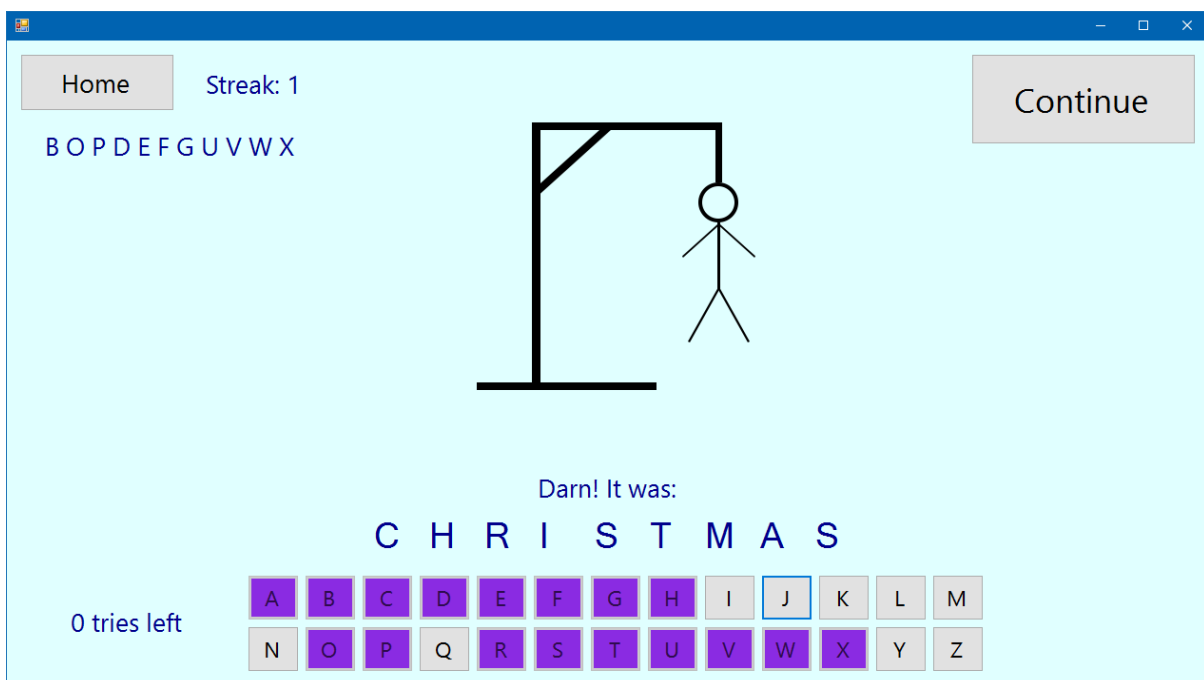

When you choose a wrong letter, it will appear under the home button, also greying out the key, reducing your tries by one and progressing the drawing of the hangman.

When you win, it'll look something like that. It'll say "You got it!", add one to the streak (once you continue or return home) and display a Continue button. Press the continue button to go onto the next word.

It'll reset like so. See how the streak updated? It keeps track of the words you get right consecutively. Get one wrong and it'll reset the streak.

When you lose, it'll look like that. It'll say "Darn! It was" and show the word you got wrong. The continue button is displayed, so you can either continue playing or return home – either way, your streak will be reset.

And that's all there is to it. This Hangman game is a simple, yet fun game, one that'll entertain more than just a single person. ENJOY PLAYING AND HAVE FUN!